DANU & HODGE

Danu, the perfect lap cat, could easily have made the feline World Championship soccer team. She was also a climber, often napping on top of the kitchen cupboards. Her brother, Hodge, preferred rubber lizards from B.C. Ferries, which would reappear in mysterious locations. He happily spent hours outside in his pink buggy, surveying the scene.

Hodge was very intelligent. During Covid, his vocabulary skyrocketed, while his human's plummeted. Both cats were great fans of visitors, especially children. They thrived at dinner parties, inserting themselves happily among the guests.

For nearly 20 years, Danu and Hodge were warm and loving companions, keenly in tune with the world. They will be enormously missed.
